

Preparations For College Homecoming Biggest Ever

From all prognostications, Homecoming '81 gives every evidence of being the largest ever. Fifty, forty-five, forty and twenty-five year classes will be honored in a special way, comparison with those whom you shared the college dorms and classrooms.

Registration begins at Halleck Center at 9:00 a.m., the parade starts

Homecoming — Beer and Brat Tent

as will the various five-year classes. The usual events will mark the day's festivities — the annual parade, the beer and brat tent, the football game (this year with Indiana Central), the happy hour and the student-alumni mixer. The free, professionally supervised nursery and playschool for children three and up will be available from noon to six in the evening. Masses in the chapel will afford weekend visitors to fulfill their Sunday obligation. The bookstore will be open for souvenirs. There will be a plethora of activities for all ages and tastes.

But naturally, the highlight of all homecomings is the meeting with classmates, faculty and administrators. Homecoming is a time for memories, a time for rehashing yarns. It's a time to show how much younger you've managed to stay in at 11:00 a.m. Game time is 1:30 p.m., with the happy hour following immediately. Dinner is served from 5:00 p.m. The mixer starts to roll at 9:30 p.m.

SJC homecomings are very informal. Make a special effort to attend, won't you?

New Year Begins With "Community"

The 1981-1982 scholastic year began on a distinct note of optimism. After the usual orientation flurry on August 20th with the advent of the new freshman group, classes began in earnest on the 24th. Mr. William Maniscalco, the new vice-president for student affairs, chose the theme of 'community' as the thrust of his office for the coming year. "...we should be able to develop and maintain a strong sense of community here — a community where each person cares about one another." He explained that students must live with others who depend on one another for affirmation, respect and support, and members of the group must realize that they are part of something bigger than themselves and that they must take active roles in becoming a part of this larger community.

To highlight the ideals of community and caring for one another, Maniscalco organized a banquet honoring the new freshman class on September 10th. Administrators and faculty were invited; short talks were given by Father Banet and representatives of various groups on campus. The occasion was very well received.

Freshman Dinner, September 9, 1981

"A major principle in a healthy community is that you don't infringe upon the rights of others. . . The biggest challenge a student may face in his four years is resisting the peer pressure to do something he really doesn't believe in. When you are educated, you should be able to stand for what you believe in despite pressures to the contrary."

Fr. Reale: New Mission

After twelve years of unstinting service to Saint Joseph's College, Father Reale has submitted his resignation to the President of the College. Over his years at Collegeville, he has worked in recruitment and admissions, the alumni office as alumni director, and finally in the position of director of development. His energy and enthusiasm were contagious, and the progress in these areas under his management is on record for all to see. His rapport with the students in the halls in which he lived was unique: among the residents he was known simply as "padre." Among his fellow religious, he appeared as a man of very firm convictions but affable and easy to live with.

Prior to his appearance on the academic scene, Father Reale was in parish work — in Cleveland OH, Centerville IA and St. Augustine's parish in Rensselaer. Now, after a well-deserved holiday, he contemplates still another apostolate, the work of hospital chaplain.

In recognition of his dedication to the College, Father Banet's designated him as a President's Fellow at the Fellows Dinner at the end of May. His picture appears with Father Banet on page 8 of this issue during the induction ceremony.

This honor, the highest conferred by the College, is given at the discretion of the President. Conferees are those who have distinguished themselves over the years by their outstanding devotion to Saint Joseph's

FR. REALE

College in one or several ways. They receive a specially minted medal and citation.

Fr. Reale is a native of Canton, OH, graduated from SJC in 1955 and was ordained a priest in the Society of the Precious Blood in 1960. The good wishes and prayers of his confreres and of the alumni follow him in his new apostolate.

Summer Session Commencement

On August 3rd the chapel was the scene of the summer commencement. The 50-voice summer chorus, made up of chiefly graduate students presented a concert. Father Banet presided at the ceremonies, and Dr. John W. Ryan, president of Indiana University, received an honorary doctorate of laws and gave the commencement address. His talk was a compelling statement of the place of the liberal arts in the curricula of our colleges and universities, especially of music. His final remarks were directed to the graduates of the summer music school: "You have learned to appreciate, to perform, to create and many of you to teach the universal language of music. Yours will be an exceptional and indeed magic role — as you lift, enrich and inspire all of us with your trained sensitivity, your scholarship, your talent and your art."

Forty women and thirty men were enrolled in the summer session of 1981. They were hard-working and enthusiastic and carried on the high tradition that has become the benchmark of our Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy under the direction of Father Lawrence Heiman, CPPS. (Picture on page 8) calling down His blessing on our work during the coming semesters.

At the present writing, everyone seems dedicated to making this new school year a fruitful one. While the enrollment is slightly lower than last year (985 students as against 1002), the enthusiasm is high and there seems to be a concerted effort to realize the ideal of 'community.'

alumni class notes

38 The relentlessly energetic Larry "Mike" Moriarty has just published a book entitled The Traveling Salesmen (Walsworth Publishing Co., Marceline, MO), which purports to instruct the reader "how to find answers for lots of things for lots of people especially salesmen." Mike is a sales and marketing consultant in Mount Prospect, IL.

42 After four years of arduous work, Father Raymond Cera, CPPS has completed the translation from Italian into English of three volumes of letters of St. Gaspar del Bufalo, founder of the Society of the Precious Blood. This Society founded and operates SJC. These letters are of great importance for the members of the Society of the Precious Blood in understanding the charism and spirituality of their founder and in recreating the times in which he lived and the conditions under which he worked. Father Cera spent countless, painstaking hours in this task and he anticipates that the three volumes will be published in book form within a year.

46 Two alumni who are successful journalists, Pat Moran and Father Vincent Giese ('45) received the Certificate of General Excellence at the 1981 Catholic Press Convention in Cincinnati earlier this year. Pat edits

PAT MORAN and FR. GIESE

My Daily Visitor magazine and Father Giese is editor-in-chief of Our Sunday Visitor Publications. My Daily Visitor is a bimonthly spiritually oriented magazine containing inspirational reflections and meditations for each day of the month. Editor Moran recently published a book, Day by Day, which offers daily meditations for an entire year. Congratulations to Father Vince and Pat. Another member of Our Sunday Visitor family, John F. Fink, president of the entire operation, attended Saint Joseph's Academy prior to its closing in 1946.

56 At the annual meeting of the American Academy of Facial and Plastic Reconstructive Surgery in Vancouver, BC, Captain Fred J. Stucker, MD, FACS, MC USN received the Ira J. Tresley Research Award for original research in head and neck plastic surgery. Fred is currently chairman of the department of otolaryngology at the National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, MD. The award was received for a paper discussing research into the concept of auto-alloplast which expands the field of reconstructive surgery and offers practical methods of managing facial deformities.

FRED J. STUCKER, M.D.

Dr. Stucker is a professor of surgery, consultant in otolaryngology at the National Institute of Health and the Kimbrough Army Hospital. He is likewise consultant to the surgeon general USN and has served as president of the Society of Military Otolaryngologists. He has presented many lectures and courses in his specialty, and has authored numerous articles for publication by professional scientific journals.

57 Gilbert Parent has been reelected to the Parliament of Canada as a representative from Welland, ON. He was first elected to the Canadian House of Commons in 1974. He serves on several committees and is involved in a number of community affairs. He belongs to the Liberal Party.

John A. Tobin was graduated from the Atlanta Law School in June. He is general credit manager for the Coca Cola Company in Atlanta.

Richard A. Rezek has recently been promoted to the position of senior vice-president, mid-west region, of the Martin E. Segal Company, one of the nation's leading actuarial, employee benefit and executive compensation consultants. Rezek joined the company in Chicago in 1965 and was named vice-president in 1974.

58 As the new fall semester began this year, Jill, the daughter of John P. O'Neil and Judy (Wagner) O'Neil, '61 enrolled as an SJC freshman. Judy wonders whether there are many other Pumas whose parents both graduated from St. Joe's. Our present computer has not stored that information; perhaps our new model, to be installed some time this year, will have space for material of this type. The O'Neils live in Monticello, IN.

59 The sports page of the San Antonio Express of July 15th features an article on Bernie LaReau, the "highly successful and skillful trainer of the San Antonio Spurs." Bernie is trying his hand at teaching a summer session in a class dealing with being an athletic trainer. The classes are held at the University of Texas at San Antonio. The classes are as successful as Bernie's training career, if the columnist can be believed. "Having Bernie teach you is like having Leonardo da Vinci paint your rec room," is his fullsome comment.

61 Chicago's North Loop News recently highlighted Dennis Biggerstaff, second vice-president of the Northern Trust Company and general manager of Northern Trust's Oak Street outlet. He and his wife, Ann Marie, just celebrated their thirteenth anniversary. They have three children. Interest in antiques and woodcrafting led Dennis one day into a junk shop where he purchased a small piece for fifteen dollars. After some forty hours of restoration, it turned out to be a humidor valued at $1,000.

from his position as professor of political science at Marshall University, Huntington, WV. He will pursue the usual JD curriculum at the University of Cincinnati College of Law, and will focus on human rights law as a fellow in the College's Institute for Human Rights. His wife, Mary Ann, will work as a nurse practitioner at the VA nursing home, Ft. Thomas KY. With their three children they will reside in Madeira OH.

63 Michael T. Smith was promoted to senior distribution analyst, distribution planning department, hospital products division, Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago IL. In this new assignment Mike will be heavily involved with transportation cost reduction projects, long range planning and customer service improvement programs.

64 Dennis Lavery has received the CASE 1981 Grand Award for the implementation of public relations programs at Western Oregon State College.

Robert Young now lives in Las Vegas and is choir director and leader of song at St. Anne Church there.

AUDREY FAYE URBANCZYK

For the past eight years, Audrey F. Urbanczyk has been involved in writing army technical manuals at Fort Sam Houston TX.

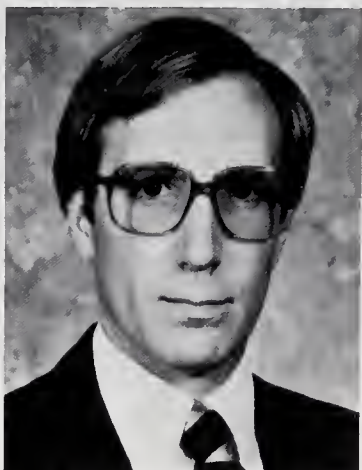

When Arthur Andersen & Co. opened their new Fox Valley Office in Aurora IL, Allan E. Bavolek was selected as one of three CPA's to man the new facilities.

66 William J. McGuire, a district manager for Datamation, has moved to the Boston area. He and Linda now live in Sudbury MA.

67 Paul J. Byrne has been named staff assistant for the specialty products sector of Rexnord, Inc. He is now responsible for analytical and administrative support for specialty products businesses. He and his wife, Mary Beth, will relocate to Milwaukee from Massachusetts with their two children. Rexnord serves the mining, construction, industrial, pollution control and other specialized markets. World-wide, the company employs more than 17,000 persons in seventy-six locations.

John A. Monroe has been named controller for Dental Plans, Inc., a firm that develops and administers group dental benefit programs. John is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants. Dental Plans, Inc., offers companies and unions group dental benefit plans that emphasize cost containment and preventive care. It is headquartered in Toledo OH.

68 Stephen J. Feldhaus who has been appointed instructor in accounting. He has an MS in accounting and is a candidate for a master's degree in business administration. From 1972 to 1978 Steve was an advisory finance officer for the government of Western Samoa where he had authority over government accounting systems and direct control of the government payroll system for 8,000 employees. Between 1969 and 1971 he served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Western Samoa.

Business writer for the South Bend Tribune, Raymond M. Leliaert, Jr., has been presented the Lou Tutino Excellence in Journalism Award by the Michiana chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists—Sigma Delta Chi. This award is presented to newsmen who exemplify various professional qualities—integrity, consistently outstanding performance and respect earned from news sources. Leliaert is the Award's third recipient. "This award reminds me," Leliaert told chapter members, "that journalism is a people business. This plaque will be a constant reminder of the importance of people in our jobs as journalists."

69 Jim Graham, maintained his remarkable coaching success at Newark (OH) Catholic High School with a ten-year record of 94-12-1.

"After twelve years of wandering," Thomas F. Creger tells us that he has returned to his home town of Marion OH and has accepted a position as instructor at the Mansfield Business College.

70 "Nothing Pompous About Superior Court Judge," read the headline of the Rensselaer Republican of June 30th. The judge is Phillip McGraw who was sworn in as judge of the newly created Jasper Superior Court. His manner is informal, his approach is direct. He takes his job seriously, and he states his prejudices: "When I was practicing, I could not defend a child abuser or what I call an age abuser... small children and elderly people can't defend themselves." Despite the fact that the Indiana legislature has not offered a pay raise to judges for the last six sessions. Phil opts for his present position: "I don't work night and weekends. When I go home on Friday night, I can play with my kids." His is a member of the Jasper County, Indiana and American Bar Associations; he was named Indiana's Outstanding Jaycee for 1976-1977;

JUDGE PHILLIP MCGRAW

and the Big One District of the Boys Scouts have named him the Scouter of the Month for August '81.

Detroitbank Corporation, parent company of Detroit Bank and Trust, has announced that Daniel J. Rogers has been appointed assistant vice-president, retail marketing. He joined the corporation in 1979 as an advertising officer and has held positions of increasing responsibility since then. His MBA is from

DANIEL J. ROGERS

Wayne State University. He is involved in Adcraft, the Bank Marketing Association.

Presently branch manager for CNA in Phoenix, James L. Weidner has overall service responsibility for the entire state of Arizona—marketing, underwriting and claims. He has come quite a way in eleven years. He started with Allstate and was with them for eight and a half years. When he came to CNA he first headed the property claims section but soon went to Los Angeles to take over the claims department there and was eventually promoted to Western Region Personnel Manager, where his psychology degree stood him in good stead. A heady climb from being business manager of Stuff!

73 Chairman of the Department of Accounting-Finance and assistant professor of accounting and finance, William E. Del Principe has been elected to the board of directors of the State Bank of Rensselaer. He is partner in the CPA firm of Kasky and Del Principe. He is active in Rotary and holds the office of the state treasurer of the Indiana Jaycees. He and his wife, Cathy Ann, have two sons.

Formerly with Mobil Oil in Houston, Gregory L. Rose is now a senior geophysicist with Champlin Exploration in Oklahoma City. He is engaged in mid-continent exploration. He earned a master's degree in geology from Wright State University.

Recently admitted to the Rhode Island Bar Association, Paul Dinsmore is now employed by IRS.

Described as a mother of one with a degree in finance from SJC, Charlene (Marsh) Parker, together with three partners, received glowing coverage in the Times-Union of Albany NY at the end of last July under the headline, "They started a global brokerage firm from scratch." The story is complex, but it seems that, along with three other venturesome people, she initiated a brokerage firm to sell American products overseas. Her first success was shrimp trawlers to Nigeria. She is involved in two other projects: a word processing center and a laminating company. She will be in Sengal in October at a business conference to encourage Americans to do more exporting. "I like the idea of being able to sell a product made in America... I really feel good about being an American." With all her vitality and enterprise, there seems little doubt but what we will be reading more about Charlene.

75 Newly appointed area employee relations manager for the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Group for central and northern Texas, Richard C. Mitchell attended Iowa State University after his graduation from SJC and received a master's degree in industrial/labor relations. He then attended the University of Salamanca in Spain, and graduated with a language certificate in Spanish.

76 For five years Barbara (Doan) Moll has worked for the Lions Club International, the world's largest service club organization, located in Oak Brook IL. She is administrative assistant to the secretary-treasurer of the Club. With a tinge of jealousy it should be reported that her position demands a great deal of travel—to Brazil, Austria, Japan, New Zealand, San Francisco, New Orleans, Montreal, Arizona, etc., etc. When she is not savoring some exotic clime she can be reached in Elmhurst IL. The Lions also roar in Rensselaer, but not nearly so bewitchingly!!

Our latest alumnus to be included among the Outstanding Young Men of America is Daniel W. Harbor. Nominations are received from senators, congressmen governors, mayors, state legislators, university and college presidents and deans, as well as from various civic groups such as the Jaycees. The announcement of Dan's award makes this statement:

"In every community there are young men working diligently to make their cities, as well as their country, better places in which to live. These men, having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor, are outstanding and deserve to be recognized for their achievements. The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business achievement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation."

William M. Jonelis has just graduated from the Indiana University School of Law at Indianapolis where he was active in the Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity and was its marshal in his junior year and a justice in his senior year. He also participated in the Moot Court Society as an inter-mural judge. He was also a federal court intern for James Noland of the U.S. District Court of Indiana.

77 Ray B. Merritt enters his final year of studies at Valparaiso School of Law and has been selected for the School's National Moot Court team which will be participating in the national competition sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Only six students are selected by the School of Law for membership on the national team. Factors determining the selection are "research skills, knowledge of the law and issues, organi-

RAYMOND BRADFORD MERRITT and Kentucky. He is also president of the Student Bar Association which comprises the entire student body of the Valparaiso School of Law. He is the student representative on the faculty library committee and a regular contributor to the Forum, The School of Law's newspaper.

Gabriele Langhammer now lives at Budweiser Weg 6, 8264 Waldkraiburg, West Germany. When she moved from Rensselaer with her mother a few years ago, she secured a position as executive secretary for one of three executive managers of a chemical company where she is able to put to good use her abilities in both German and English. She and her mother send best wishes and prayers to the many friends they made at SJC when they called Indiana their home.

Mary Ann Mitchell has been appointed campus ministry associate and assistant resident director of Whitney Hall at Defiance College. A psychology graduate, she will be providing personal counseling for students as well as coordinating the activities of campus religious organizations. She is working through the Catholic Diocese of Toledo's Year of Service Program.

78 James E. Duffy has accepted a position as senior writer at Amway Corporation, headquartered in Ada MI. Jim was formerly with Garrison, Jasper, Rose & Co., an Indianapolis advertising agency. His wife, Peggy (Sheeren) Duffy '79 received her master's degree in social work at IUPUI last May.

80 Kim Kicza has joined the staff of Esleek Manufacturing Co., Inc., as a quality control technician in Turner Fall MA. Esleek is a specialized paper industry, dealing primarily in stationery of assorted descriptions. Her degree was in biology-chemistry.

Janet Houston was promoted to systems engineering assistant at IBM in Fort Wayne. She is contemplating beginning courses for a MBA at IUPUI in Fort Wayne this fall.

81 Ron Fitzpatrick is in Los Angeles working for the Hilton Corporation. He was offered a position which will work him into a comptroller's post.

Debbie Payne is now employed by Green Giant Company in Belvidere IL.

From working on the College newspaper and radio station, Monique Lacouture has joined the staff of the Rensselaer Republican. She majored in communications at SJC.

Notes From Your Alumni Director

The school year opened on an optimistic note. We have a hard working and enthusiastic Board of Trustees, and a cooperative student body. Our alumni can have confidence that their alma mater is alive and active.

Fathers Druhman and Banet and yours truly attended several alumni/ae functions during the summer. On June 12th Mr. Emil Babiarz, one of our trustees, hosted a luncheon at Ridgemoor Country Club in Chicago. Approximately twenty alumni/ae were present.

Union League Chicago Luncheon: Trustee Lorraine Sweeney in the foreground.

On June 26, another trustee, Mr. Albert Fellingner '52, hosted a luncheon at the Union League Club in Chicago's Loop. Again there were approximately twenty alumni/ae present.

A good representation from Saint Joe's attended a gathering of Pumas in Louisville, KY on September 16 at Master-son's Restaurant. Those representing Saint Joseph's were Father Banet, Father Druhman, Bill Downard '63, Chairman of the History Department, Mike Davis, Chairman of the Department of Earth Science, Philip Wilhelm '63 of Indianapolis and Trustee, Daniel Harbor '76, President of the Alumni Association, and myself. There were about sixty people present and all agreed that it was an evening well spent. One of the more renowned guest was the Most Reverend Charles G. Maloney '32, Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Louisville. Thanks to Ken Forsthoefel '45 and Bill Vaught '63 for making the arrangements for this gathering.

On Aug. 8, the Alumni Board of Directors met on campus and began to lay out plans for the coming year. Two new members were added to the Board, both of them women. They are Sarah Ross Glass '73 of Munster, Indiana, and Alana A. Haberman '77, of Columbus, Ohio. The number of women now serving on the Board is three. If there are any others who are interested in becoming members of the Board, please contact us.

The immediate business of the Board was to finalize all of the many details of Homecoming '81. This took the better part of the morning session. The outgoing president, Dr. Kenneth Ahler '62, made his final report, and informed the Board that the college band is being rebuilt by Father Lawrence Heiman. He has assured the Board that the College will have a concert and pep band. Dr. Ahler then gave a brief farewell message and turned over the gavel to Dan Harbor.

The Board discussed the possible addition of display space in the fieldhouse for the Sports Hall of Fame. At the present time the picture cases are filled and are missing several inductees of recent years. Your director was instructed by the Board to have this project completed. The Board also approved $250 to help defray the expenses of the addition.

Mr. Philip Wilhelm '63, Chairman of the Capital Campaign addressed the Board and explained to the members their role in the campaign. He asked their cooperation in helping to make the campaign a success.

I would hope that by this time all of you have received the flyer announcing Homecoming '81 to be held on campus October 17. We would like to surpass last year's Homecoming. Even though this invitation is close to the date of Homecoming, please make every effort to use whatever means are available (horse, wagon, bicycle, motorcycle, car, plane, train, bus, camel, etc.) to get to Puma-ville for the big event.

More than thirty widely diverse activities brought well over 2000 visitors to the campus this summer. It was probably the busiest in the College's history. Besides the very successful summer music school, there were the usual band camps with their all-too-early morning practices. A number of football and basketball groups fitted well with a Badgerette Pom Pon camp. There were retreats for priests, religious and the A.A. Alumni of neighboring high schools used our banquet facilities as did the Christian Women's organization. There were at least seven weddings.

The great advantage, of course, in having high school groups on campus is that they become acquainted with SJC and may begin to contemplate coming here for their college work. Much of the credit for making things run smoothly must go to Rex Duley who never seems to get ruffled no matter how many young people he has to monitor.

And yet, despite the use of our halls for these activities, our working crews have managed to handle an incredible amount of renovation and replacement. For jobs such as the repainting of the water tower, however, outside contracts had to be let. All in all, there was hardly a hall which did not receive major attention. Justin got a new roof as did the chapel, which also boasts of a fine broad entrance sidewalk. Dwenger (the old health center) was converted into faculty offices. Remote and central condensate pumps were installed in the power house, and valves, points and buried pipe have been replaced. Considerable emphasis was laid on energy conservation. With the acquisition of new lawn equipment, the grounds looked better this summer than they have for quite some time. Fred Plant, '72, the assistant vice-president for financial affairs, Ron Pollock the superintendent for building and grounds, their foremen and their crews certainly deserve a vote of gratitude for their work this summer.

Over the past two years, Dr. Duvall Jones, associate professor of biology and Father Charles Rueve, CPPS, '47 have completed a map which locates and lists the more than 150 species of trees and shrubs on our 130 acre campus. All but the evergreens are flowering plants. The study has an academic advantage for both college and high school students interested in taxonomy — cf. your dictionary!

Dr. John Nichols was a resident faculty member and lecturer, and was responsible for one of the workshops at the National Humanities Faculty summer institute at Cornell College during July. Dr. Nichols is the Core coordinator and chairman of the department of philosophy.

dinator and chairman of the department of philosophy.

During August a $57,777 project in the form of a workshop took shape on campus, designed to develop the interdisciplinary skills of twenty faculty members. A few outside speakers were engaged, but the bulk of the work was shouldered by our own faculty resources.

Toward the end of spring semester Dr. David Osterfeld '71, assistant professor of politics, was named 1980-81 professor-of-the-year. He was nominated by the student senate and elected by a vote of the student body.

Dr. William Downard '63, professor of history and chairman of the department, has authored an article, The Web of Government: "Nathanael Greene and His Associates" for the current issue of the Indiana Military History Journal, a magazine published under the auspices of the Indiana Historical Society at Indianapolis.

Virginia Marzke, '78 our directress of placement, has just completed a Placement Manual, a 56-page xeroxed pamphlet to help students in deciding on a career and assessing their personal qualities and skills. It likewise offers advice on proper interview techniques, resume' development and letter writing.

After twenty-nine years of service to the College, Alfred Hentschel has retired. He worked tirelessly for many years in the carpenter shop and later as superintendent of buildings and grounds. He is an expert cabinet maker and many of the rooms on campus bear the mark of his craftsmanship. His first job in 1952 involved the stations of the cross in the grotto park; his last project was the renovation of these same stations — a labor which consumed 110 hours. "This project means a great deal to me," he said, "not only because it's almost identical to my first job here, but because the Bavarian-style crosses remind me of my native Germany." Alfred and his wife will remain in Rensselaer.

An annual saving of $87,600 is not to be taken lightly. But that is just what SJC hopes to realize by an initial investment of $13,760 for the purchase and installation of propane heaters in the halls. Heretofore the College had to keep its powerhouse boilers active all summer for hot water and steam for cooking. Now the propane units assure us of an annual saving in coal, electricity, chemicals and wages of $87,600. And routine work on the boilers can be accomplished without inconvenience to summer residents. The initial investment was repaid in thirty-one days.

One of the all-time athletic luminaries of SJC was Joe Dienhart, a standout coach in basketball, football and baseball. He was here between 1938 and 1943. Recently he was inducted into the Chicago Catholic League Hall of Fame in the "Friends of the League" category. Now at the age of seventy-seven, he has completed two terms as the mayor of West Lafayette IN.

He went to Purdue as assistant football coach in 1943, and later served as assistant athletic director and athletic ticket manager. He is a member of the Indiana Football Hall of Fame and the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame.

Plans are underway for the third annual SJC + 10 Career Day to be held Wednesday, November 11, 1981. Again it will be coordinated by Tom O'Brien '69 and Ginny Marzke, Directress of Placement. There will also be three area coordinators representing Chicago, Indianapolis and Detroit. Because of distance, travel and time, participants have been from these areas, but others are most certainly welcome.

The first SJC + 10 Career Day was the idea of a few of the 1969 alumni. Tom O'Brien contacted the Placement Office with the suggestion that ten-year grads return to campus for a day and share their

Health Center Moves To New Quarters In Schwietermann

One of the more notable changes which took place over the summer was the transferral of the health center from Dwenger Hall to Schwietermann Hall. The three members of the nursing staff are enthusiastic about their new quarters which are more commodious and have the advantage of air-conditioning. There are three examining rooms, one large waiting room, a medicine room, a record room and an office and reception area.

Service is available from 7:30 in the morning until 7:30 in the evening. Students seeking care at other hours go to the emergency room in the Jasper County Hospital in Rensselaer.

A physician is available each noon, Monday through Friday on campus. The doctors are assisted by the nursing staff: Dixie Green, Marie Schultz, Betty Stroller and Marlene Tiede.

Dixie Green gives an SJC student a tour of the new Health Center.

The work on the new health center was completed in large part by College workers. They likewise converted Dwenger Hall into faculty office space. Merlini Hall, used for a short time as faculty offices, is once more an all-student dormitory.

The Career Day has been well received by students, faculty and administrators. We anticipate another successful career day because of the positive feedback from previous years.

Dear Fellow Alumni / Alumnae,

It is with great pride and pleasure that I write my first letter to you as your new Alumni President. I am looking forward to working with all of you for the next two years, and I hope that my service will be beneficial to you and to the College.

Homecoming 1981 is just around the corner. On October 17th we promise one of the most exciting and fun-filled occasions you can imagine. We welcome you and your family. I will try to meet with as many of you as possible.

If you have any questions or suggestions, please feel free to write or call any of your new officers. These people are dedicated and energetic and have high hopes of making your association more viable and visible. These officers are:

Vice-President for Alumni Relations:

Richard Cera '76
3104 Olive Road

School Year Begins With New Personnel

New faces in the classroom, in the offices and around campus appeared as the first semester opened.

Father Kenneth Alt, CPPS, '73 replaces Father Urban Dumminger, CPPS, '46 as spiritual director of seminarians. He is involved in the vocational program of the Society of the Precious Blood and comes to College from Brunnerdale High School Seminary.

FR. REPAS and FR. ALT

Father Anthony Repas, CPPS, '56 replaces Father Roman Rodak, CPPS, '45 who was in charge of the various aspects of the CPPS seminarian's life on campus such as horaria, discipline and the like. Father Repas also represents the College religious family at the diocesan priests' council.

Brother Anthony Baltes, CPPS, a licensed engineer came from Brunnerdale High School Seminary and is working in the power plant.

Ted Broscoe replaced Bill Verbrugge as director of the computer center. He comes from Middletown CN and has worked for Xerox Education Publications since 1979 and was responsible for the management and development of information needs in forecasting, financial analysis and planning. He has also worked for McGraw-Hill, Inc., Sperry & Hutchinson Co., and M.W. Kellogg. His bachelor's degree is from Notre Dame and he has studied management, marketing and economics at the New York University Graduate School of Business.

Stephen J. Feldhaus, '68 is an instructor in accounting. He received his MS in that discipline from Walter E. Heller College of Business Administration at Roosevelt University in Chicago and is a degree candidate in business administration at Governors State University in Park Forest South IL. He has been an advisory officer in the finance ministry of the government of Western Samoa and had a broad range of responsibilities, including authority over government accounting systems and direct control of the government payroll system for some 8000 employees. His acquaintance with Western Samoa began as a Peace Corps volunteer between 1969-71.

Brother Edward Habrowski, CPPS, '71, is an instructor in education. He is also assisting Father Robbins, CPPS in the registrar's office. Bro. Ed has a master's degree from St. Francis College in Fort Wayne. He served as principal of Precious Blood School in that city.

Mickey Haslett is a director of campus life. During the past two years, he served as an assistant in the office of student development at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale. He earned a BS in journalism and an MS in education from SIU-Carbondale.

William Hogan, '74 has been named as assistant professor of business administration. Both his master's and doctoral degrees come from Bowling Green (OH) State University. He is a member of Pi Epsilon and Pi Omega Pi, honorary societies for business educators and the Ohio Business Teachers Association.

Dubravko Kakarigi, an instructor in computer science, earned his BA in Yugoslavia, an MS from the University of Denver in business administration in statistics, and an MS in management with a management information systems option from Purdue. He has won several awards, including an IBM fellowship, a Fulbright scholarship and teaching assistantships at both the University of Denver and Purdue.

Pravin Kamdar, another instructor in business administration, comes from Bombay, India. He received his bachelor's degree in pre-medicine and the liberal arts at the University of Oregon and a master's degree in business administration from the same university. He also has done advanced work toward an MA in philosophy at the University of Iowa. He has published several articles on Gandhian philosophy and is currently working on a history of Indian philosophy.

Vicky Kosowsky is assistant vice-president for student affairs in charge of residential living. This is a live-in position in which she shares the responsibilities of the vice-president for student affairs for the overall efficiency and performance in the area of student life. She has her bachelor's degree in sociology from Russell Sage College in Troy NY and an MS in counselor education from the State University of New York.

Father Fred Lang, CPPS, '50 returns to campus after some ne University. His undergraduate degree is in business administration, with a major in accounting and a minor in business law. He is a retired lieutenant colonel of the Air Force.

William R. Maniscalco is the new vice-president for student affairs. Since 1976 he held that office at St. Francis College in Loretto PA. He has a master of education degree from Ohio State University in

BILL MANISCALCO

Athens. His undergraduate degree from St. Francis is in political science with a minor in American history. During the past twelve years he has been involved in the area of student affairs and he comes to SJC as one both knowledgeable and experienced.

Brother James Mignery, CPPS, '74 has been appointed instructor in communications and theatre arts. His bachelor's degree is in that area as is his master's from the University of Akron. He is already at work in producing the smash hit, The Lion in Winter which will premiere on the Collegeville stage in October.

Ron Pollock replaces Tom Byfield as superintendent of buildings and grounds. He joins the Saint Joseph's family from Daverman Associates of Grand Rapids, MI where he worked as an energy auditor.

John Pullin is now head baseball coach for the Pumas and succeeds George Waggoner who continues as head basketball coach. Pullin has been assistant baseball coach for four years here.

Frank Slaby is associate professor of marketing. He comes from Valparaiso University where he was assistant professor of administrative science. Both his undergraduate and master's degrees are from Indiana University, and his doctorate from Pacific Western University. He has taught at Mississippi State University, the University of Akron, the University of Cincinnati, Xavier University, the Illinois Institute of Technology and St. Mary's College.

Mary Margaret Smith has been named instructor in political science. Her master's degree is from St. Louis University where she is likewise a Ph.D. candidate in public policy analysis and administration, with areas of concentration in judicial policy and organizational behavior. She has served as assistant registrar for the University since 1978.

Vincent Stilger is the new athletic trainer. He received an MS in health and safety from Indiana University earlier this month.

Capital Campaign Decision Result Of A Two-Year Study

After two years of study and analysis on the part of the entire College community — trustees, administrators, faculty, staff and students — a feasibility study was undertaken to determine whether or not a capital gifts campaign would be advisable at this time. Certainly the need was present. When the study revealed very positive findings, the machinery was set in motion to launch such a campaign. Obviously, such a project demands much in-house footwork before it is announced to the general public. The next issue of Contact hopes to supply more copious details, but we felt that our alumni family should have previous information — they should be in on the ground floor of planning and advising when their alma mater engages in any such undertaking.

The College is not hiring a professional fund-raising corporation for the campaign. As much as possible of the work will be done by College personnel. We hope to spend only six cents for every dollar we realize. The project will extend over a five-year period. The alumni will not be invited to participate until after the first of next year.

Mr. Philip J. Wilhelm '63, president of Southeastern Supply Co., Inc., of Indianapolis has graciously accepted the chairmanship of the campaign. Other officers have volunteered and will be listed in the next issue of this paper. At present, visitation of trustees is proceeding apace, with very positive results. Faculty, staff, students and religious have been notified, and again the cooperation is very heartening. Work with foundations and corporations has begun, but this phase will take considerable time.

Our goal is $7,000,000 over the next five years. We want to bring the heating and water systems up to date. Some of the halls need renovation. Much cosmetic work is needed around campus to restore the attractive appearance which the institution once prided itself in. The endowment fund must be increased. The only new construction contemplated is a Core Building which has been requested by faculty and students alike.

Philip Wilhelm, Chairman of the Capital Campaign addresses the student body. With him is Augie Ghilarducci, president of the student association.

Along with most colleges and universities in the nation, we have followed a policy of "delayed maintenance." Beyond necessary repairs, we had chosen to prioritize such areas as the academic. And that decision was wise, but there comes a time when the physical plant can no longer be passed over without danger to other essential components of collegiate life. We hope that the campaign will restore balance and insure growth for the entire institution.

As work in the campaign office moves forward our alumni and alumnae will be notified through Contact and through other channels. We know that we can count on your good will and prayers.

Bullfeathers—Where SJC Lunches in DC

Frank Creel (B.A., '63) wrote this column for the Feb. 13, 1981 issue of the Potomac News, a Northern Virginia week-daily. After leaving St. Joe's, Creel spent two years as a Peace Corps volunteer in the Republic of Turkey, followed by three years of military service, including one year with the 4th Infantry Division in Vietnam. Later, he earned his doctorate in comparative politics of the Middle East from the University of Chicago. Since 1973, Creel has worked for the U.S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C., where he is now acting director of the Statutory Import Programs Staff in the International Trade Administration. Creel is married to Ender Ones of Nigde, Turkey. They have two daughters and a son. Creel's column, a hobby of his, has appeared weekly in the Potomac News since March, 1977.

"Colleges might be thought of as places where youngsters who think they know virtually all there is to know are prepared to face the truth of how little they know. Yours truly underwent this painful process at St. Joe's in Indiana, which had on its faculty a certain Professor Kilmer. Kilmer had done advance work for Ike's campaigns in the 1950's. A big cherub-cheeked man, he moved around campus exuding a kind of hand-me-down charisma which I, at least, found profoundly fascinating. I kick myself now for never having had the guts to go up and ask Kilmer certain questions. Had he actually ever spoken with Ike? How did he line up that kind of work? What do members of advance parties actually do? Was it worth it?

"As fate will have it, another opportunity was being fashioned as I attended Father Shea's history class, even as I distracted myself with pondering the Ike-Kilmer political axis. This second opportunity took almost 18 years to materialize and may never have if another of Fr. Shea's students (Tom Mooney, now working on the Hill) had not sweet-talked him into getting involved and has been working for the Republican National Committee for several years. He filled an important role in the Reagan campaign and in the Republican congressional races which transformed the American political landscape last November. He was, and still is, "Liaison to Ethnic and Religious Groups" at the RNC. His work had much to do with making Republican candidates the beneficiaries of evangelical political activism (the Moral Majority, Christian Voice, Religious Roundtable) and with bringing larger numbers of Catholic and blue-collar votes into the Republican column.

"Tired of kicking myself for not picking Kilmer's mind when I had the chance, I phoned Fr. Shea. He graciously agreed to meet me for lunch.

"Bullfeathers Restaurant is a block south of the RNC offices. Never having been there before, I can't tell you if the little glass bowl in the Bullfeathers cloakroom used to contain peanuts. It is now filled with jellybeans.

"If you ever want complete conversational privacy, go to a crowded, noisy restaurant like Bullfeathers. We were but two feet away from the table next to us, but I heard not a word from its occupants, who could not possibly have heard a word of our conversation because they were themselves talking non-stop in the semi-shout needed to rise above the general din. Perhaps it was my imagination or, if real, just a case of follow-the-leader's mannerisms, but it seemed as if all and one had taken to cupping their ears with their left hands. Ask me not, Why not the right?

"Still, Fr. Shea and I managed to exchange pleasantries, brief histories of the intervening 18 years and a few nuggets of political wisdom before my time to leave. Fr. Shea attributed a great deal of the Republican success to the party's acceptance of the idea that targeting the so-called ECBC (ethnic, Catholic, blue-collar) vote would be crucial to the outcome. The idea gained currency among Republican strategists partly because Fr. Shea and others who felt as he did kept hammering at the concept that basic Republican values were in fundamental harmony with basic ECBC values. The party in other word, did not need to change stripes. The task was not to compromise principles but to communicate their commonality.

"Fr. Shea, however, is not deceived by the relatively easy success Republicans enjoyed last November. He admits to being surprised by the margin of Reagan's victory. He is aware that the Republican task has now moved beyond effective communication to efficacious governance. He knows that the Republican "mandate" is a sloshy concoction consisting largely of a charge to avoid mistakes prominently attached to the last administration. Democratic candidates with a whole truss of alba-trosses around their necks are not, he knows, in the 1984 cards. He will be one of the last people in town to miss noticing that George Will, the perspicacious student of the political wars, has already penned a piece of Ted Kennedy's new role of keeping the faith warm in winter while waiting to "call forth a spring" for Democrats.

"Fr. Shea knows, you know, we all know that Republicans can keep Ted tossing logs on the fire only so long as they can keep the bowl at Bullfeathers filled with jellybeans.

"So to speak."

sports update

By CHUCK SCHUTTROW

Twenty-five lettermen, including 14 starters from the 6-4-0 club of 1980, return as the Pumas seek to climb back into the Heartland Collegiate Conference championship picture following a third-place finish during the past season.

A balanced mixture of offensive and defensive experience is apparent, since seven of the returning starters are offensive performers and seven are defenders. Much of the attention necessarily goes to the offense, where the Pumas feature a combination run-and-pass show that's often troublesome for the foes.

Mike Houston (176 completions, 2433 yards, 22 TD's in '80) triggers the offensive fireworks. He rushed for seven TD's last year, and even though the Pumas graduate all starting receivers, the aerial game should again be explosive. This is because letterman tailback Dave Bormann is switching to wide receiver, where he'll be joined by non-letter returnees Jeff Rosenbauer, Jeff Brinkley, DeWayne Harris and Louis Norris. Mike Paxton (6-2, 230) and letterman Ernest Watson (6-1, 225) are set at tight end.

Bormann caught 24 passes for 305 yards and four TD's and also for 281 yards last fall. With his move to wide receiver, lettermen running backs Kyle Myers (296 yards, 4.2 per-carry average), Keith Jones (164 yards, 5.5 average), Tim Callahan (125 yards, 4.2 average) and Kevin Tatum can be expected to share duties with impressive first-year returnees like Dan Lewis (42 yards, 10.7 average).

Blocking should be improved still more with the return of six interior line monogram winners: center Gary Potacki (6-2, 225), guard Tony Benassi (5-11, 210) guard Mike Aevermann (6-4, 240) guard Brian Nahas (5-9, 200) tackle Bob Bultman (6-2, 270) and tackle Scott Siedelmann (6-0, 245).

Quickness, toughness and standout pursuit are earmarks of recent SJC defensive units, and there is no reason to believe those characteristics won't again typify the point prevention unit.

Lettermen Terry Robichaud (5-10, 205) and Dan Schluge (6-0, 175) are classic examples of undersized defensive ends who feast on quarterbacks trying to pass; non-letter returnee John Gause (6-0, 190) will push for a starting job here. The tackle spots are solid with the return of John Misiora (6-1, 230) and Jerry Such (6-1, 210); the latter missed most of the '80 season with an injury. Mark Malott (5-10, 200) has the quickness and strength to plug the middle from his mid-dleguard position.

Graduation took a heavy toll at the linebacker spots, leaving only Ron Leffler (6-0, 215) as a returning letterman. But the outlook isn't bleak here since Jeff Shake (6-2, 200), a letterman tackle in '80, is moving into the linebacker slot to make room for the return of Such to the rush line. Dean Underwood (6-1, 190) and Mark Albrecht (5-10, 180) are a pair of second-year performers who will challenge for work as linebackers.

Starters Scot Grove (6-0, 175), Keith Kincaid (5-10, 172) and Mike Staudt (5-6, 170) are back in the secondary, joined by monogram-winning returnees Brad DeWees (5-10, 170), Jeff May (5-10, 180) and Artie Mitchell (5-9, 180).

Bob Hoop returns to handle the placekicking chores along with Greg Wilhite. Houston can be expected to take care of some of the punting. Bormann is a standout on kickoff returns and Grove is a consistent performer on punt returns.

SJC footballers are busy at work practicing for their upcoming clash with Indiana Central, Homecoming '81, October 17.

Parents Club Holds Annual Dinner-Dance April 25

The annual Parents Club Dinner and Dance was held at the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago on the twenty-fifth of April. About 150 people attended the affair this year, and, as always, it was a very happy occasion. Together with their cohorts, Bill Loomis, president of the Parents Club, and Marge Liggett, president of the Alumni Parents, made the evening both a social and financial success. A net of $10,400 was realized which was presented to Fr. Banet for the furnishings of Halleck Center Lounge. The parents pledged $35,600 toward these furnishings two years ago. Because of the Dinner and Dance, as well of other activities during the year, the Club owes only $4,400 to complete their pledge. Fr. White has been the faithful moderator of the group for many years.

One of the highlights of the evening was the drawing for the big money prizes. The winners this year were: Sandy Booth, Falmouth MA; Mrs. Louis Walter, Crown Point IN; Sarah Rau, Wabash IN; Mary Prebys, South Bend IN; and Estelle Kozielski, Chicago IL. Mrs. Kozielski is the wife of Bill Kozielski, an alumnus of 1941 and a President's Fellow. The ovation she received when her good fortune was announced was well deserved.

To Bob Clausen, the manager of the Bismarck Hotel, SJC owes a special debt of thanks for his innumerable kindnesses, not only relative to the annual Dinner and Dance, but throughout the year for his consideration in arranging of the meetings and luncheons of the Board of Trustees when the group meets in Chicago.

The College appreciates the interest and support of the parents, many of whom retain their loyalty long after their sons and daughters have graduated.

Fellows Dinner And Summer Graudation

2000th Fellow Inducted Dr. Ryan Receives LLD

The annual Fellows Dinner, held on May 30th this year, was the occasion for special celebration. The 2000th Fellow was inducted in the person of Joseph Bosch, whose sister, Mary Beth, was the 1000th Fellow a few years ago. They are the children of Jerome Bosch '59. Pictures of the family appear below. The festivities began with a Mass in the chapel for deceased Fellows. A happy hour and buffet dinner were followed by the conferral of the certificates. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Father Gross Fellows received their plaques and Father Reale was awarded the medal of the Presidential Fellow.

The attendance this year was the largest ever — some 350 Fellows and their families and friends. Father Gross, who is not able to do the road work he had done in the past because of health problems, has proved himself a most effective promoter of the program by telephone. The date for next year's dinner has already been determined — June 5th.
